Pomegranates grown in the French Mediterranean coastal area have a reputation for being the biggest and juiciest in Europe. They are sun-kissed and slowly ripened until their thick, leathery skins explode with Mother Nature's glistening gift of hundreds of sweet/tart gems.

Nature's Rx: The juice, extracted from freshly cut pomegranates, exerts enormously powerful antioxidants, three times the strength of red wine, green tea, and cranberry juice. Revered throughout history for its medicinal and nutrient rich properties, it is a great source of potassium, vitamin C and polyphenols. Evening Primrose oil is known for its anti-aging properties and is a rich source for GLA, a nutrient that is readily absorbed by the body in order to maintain healthy skin regeneration. The addition of French Rose Clay aids in removing dead skin cells, leaving your body feeling silky smooth.
